This complaint is based on a Jacksonville Times-Union article on 5/12/15, reporter Christopher Hong, (904) 359-4272. In the article, Kerrie Stillman, spokesperson for the Commission, stated that a complaint must be filed for the Commission to initiate an investigation.

According to the article, Kim Daniels has almost $1,000,000 in mortgage debt on properties in Broward and Duval counties which she has failed to disclose. Evidently her name does not appear as the owner of the properties so it is not clear how she would be able to take out loans on those properties to begin with. Also, it appears she has purchased timeshare properties in Daytona and Orlando and failed to disclose those purchases.

In addition, Kim Daniels residency to serve on the City Council has emerged as an issue in that it is unclear where she legally resides. I believe this connects to her liabilities and assets disclosure issue as an attempt to mask her true her true legal residence.

It is possible that fraud may be uncovered in her method of acquiring properties, loans, and property title transfers.
